4th convocation of Centurion varsity

Bhubaneswar, Nov 26: Centurion University organised its 4th convocation at its campus Saturday where 1150 graduates of various disciplines were awarded their degrees.

While 12 students were awarded gold medals, five scholars received PhD degrees from governor SC Jamir.

The convocation was attended by the speaker and chief guest Anthony Bohm, Founding Partner, Pangaea Impact Investments (Australia) and the Guest of Honour Ram Sarvepalli, Leader - Advisory Services, India and Partner - Emerging Markets Center, Ernst and Young.

During his speech, Bohm advised the youngsters to ensure the world becomes a better place. While narrating the life story Bohm said, “There is a very practical reason to follow your passion. In my experience, success is never easy. It is hard won. There is no such thing as an ‘overnight success’. It is very hard to remain focused and committed if you do not truly believe in what you do.”

The governor asked the graduates to keep on updating their knowledge to remain relevant.

“I urge you to plan to become social entrepreneurs, the way founders of this university have shown in action. You need to maintain the habit of continuous learning. As you move ahead in life, your education must not stop. Do not forget that numerous traditional jobs are being wiped out. There is a need for continuous skill development and remember struggle is critical to the learning process,” he said.

He also released an Ernst & Young report titled, ‘Role of Higher Education in Creating Sustainable Livelihoods and Social Enterprises’ at the event.
