ABOUT THE SESSION:

- 1. Dr. Girish P Rath in the first session has covered on the components of a product from the conceptual stage to the end users experience and loyalty. The session referred student members as sample products and rotated around the Features, Differentiation, Value additions and brought into Curriculum Vitae, the ways to empower it for a better employability and income generation options. The long stretched interactions helped the moderator in identifying the gap and rendering a solution to the same. Students imagining them as products and giving a finite jurisdiction with marketable features was the major take home of the Session.
- 2. Mr. Susant Sahoo in the second session focused on the financial market in reference to HDFC Bank. The participants were transported to the industry & amp; market realities. The strategy followed by HDFC to stand apart, to promote and popularize the financial products, the challenges & amp; limitations, managing competition & amp; competitors and counter strategies were discussed at length. Due to encouraging enquiries by the participants the session was stretched till the last participant gets the doubt cleared.
- 3. Mr. Narayan Mahapatro in the third session focused on the promotional factors keeping the consumers point in view. Apart from the theories the rich experience of the resource person highlighted the advertising needs, choices, trends, ad-spending and space selling tools and techniques (of Gajapti District as the sample) as an entrepreneur and his strategies to cater the same to a delight. The question varied from entrepreneurial risks, the journey to future expansion plans.
- 4. Dr. Rashmi R Parida in her session invited the participants to a critical thinking zone on branding, its need, evolution, and trends. The moderator successfully transformed them to a self-branding platform & amp; it's much required employability/income generation features. Value additions concepts like Power Branding, Brand Crash, Denial, and Retention were also introduced to the participants in an edutainment mode.

OBJECTIVES: To invite, involve and integrate students to the various components of management functions and rendering a firsthand experience of managerial skills. rendering a firsthand experience of managerial skills.

OUTCOME: The success of the workshop was visible from the enthusiasm of the participants with unending, varied questions to meet the appetite for knowledge on marketing. Relating the happenings around them with planned stimulus that lead them to a decision making point, strategizing to be loved, liked to the level of loyalty created more questions to ask and explore further. The workshop was declared close by Prof. Rashmi R Parida, PGP Coordinator, SoM with obligation extended to Prof. Durga P Padhy, Dy.
