Recently he has been awarded with the prestigious "National Award for Outstanding Efforts in Science and Technology Communication in the Electronic Medium, 2018" by the NCSTC, DST, Ministry of Science and Technology, Government of India on February 28, 2019. He was also awarded as the Best Media Educator (Associate Professor) at the Media and Media Education Summit, 2018 in New Delhi. Dr. Dutta has participated SUSI at Ohio University in 2018

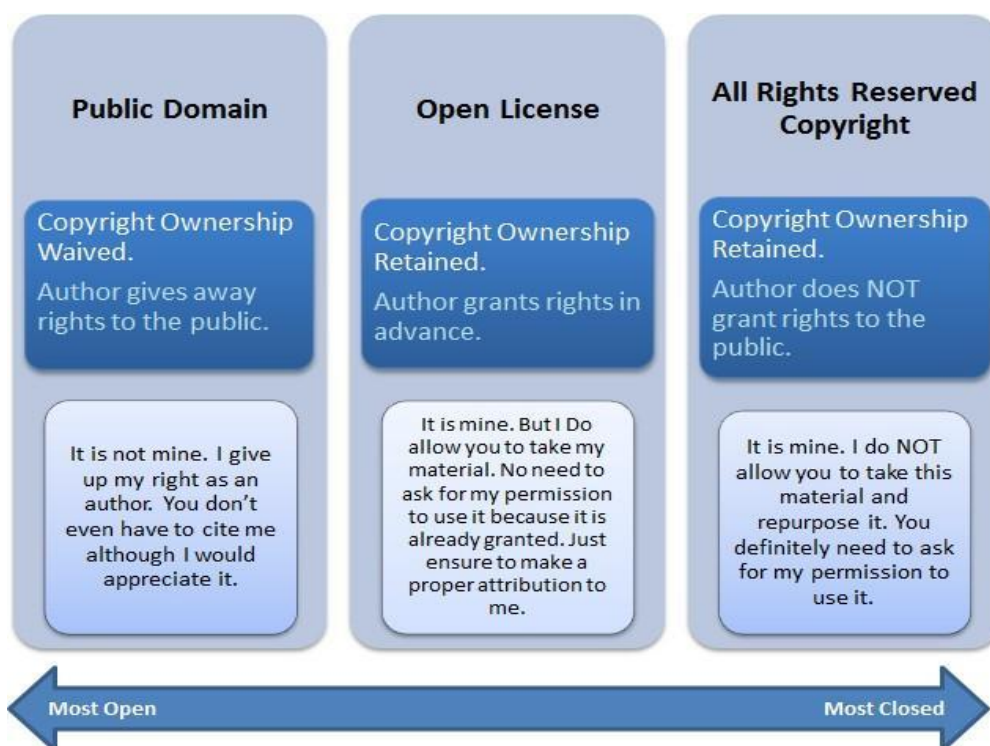

Objective:

The session, conducted briefed on what knowledge is, who is the owner, Copy-left and Creative Common Licenses, the open educational resources, their value, principles and types, what is licensing, the role of technology and platform.

Outcome:

The OER concept strengthens traditional academic values of sharing and collaborative creation of knowledge. While this general description of OER is positive, it builds on scattered data and somewhat anecdotal evidence. This clearly demonstrates the need for further research on the OER movement in general, for more evaluations of individual projects as well as better user statistics to build a better knowledge base.

What are Open Educational Resources?

OER are teaching, learning, and research resources that reside in the public domain or have been released under an intellectual property license that permits their free use and re-purposing by others.

OER have been defined in various ways but a key concept is that they can be adapted by others
