A REPORT ON
ICE-BREAKERS, COMMUNICATION & CONFIDENCE
20th September 2017

On 20th September 2017, the Department of English, CUTM conducted a one-day workshop on Icebreakers communication and confidence in which a total of 80 participants have participated.

The workshop was divided into three sessions. The first session started with few ice breaking activities like Paint a Picture, Build a Story, Name That Tune. 80 students from School of Engineering participated in the activity. It was super fun for the participants. All were energized with this activity.

The second session was delivered by Prof Prajna Pani, Associate Professor of English on the brief overview of communication and pillars of persuasive communication. The speaker also gave valuable tips on presentation skills which is so important for the college students and budding entrepreneurs at large.

In the next session, an exercise was carried out by Prof Girish Prasad Rath to know about the four different personalities (interacting styles) and how understanding these personality traits will be helpful in having effective communication with other people. The students had very interactive and fun time having group discussion and solving a case study at the end. In the final session Prof Susanta Kumar Patnaik suggested to be interactive during the workshop so that they could learn the art of building up confidence and personality development. Later he also emphasised about the stress relaxation therapies, exercises of building up confidence and taking sessions that build-up confidence. Later, an interactive session was held. The audience asked their various queries on self-confidence and personality development. Also the interactive session was followed with the power-point presentation, through which the audience explored different stages of confidence.

We would like to thank the Management and Department of English for initiating such an insightful and fun- filled workshop.
