Faculty Development Programme
on Micro teaching

Date: 13-07-2019

Resource Person: Prof. Bijay Bhujabal

No. of Participants: 28

About the programme:

Microteaching is organized practice teaching in a simulated environment. It aims at giving young teachers the much needed confidence, support, and feedback by letting them try out a slice of what they plan to do with their students in the presence of experienced teaching consultants, mentors, language experts, soft skills trainers, and peers. “Microteaching as a professional development tool in teacher training programs provides student teachers with opportunities to explore and reflect on their own and others’ teaching styles and to acquire new teaching techniques and strategies.

Outcomes of the programme:

- To state the Lesson Objectives in the second slide.
- Introduced the topics better
- Became increasingly aware of their OKs, noises and gap fillers.5. Avoided redundancies like ‘return back’, ‘could not be able to’ etc
- Used more meaningful pauses and paced their deliveries well
- Used videos and animations carefully and judiciously
