3. Implementation Methodology

3.1. Approach

The implementation methodology ensures that the:

- ☐ The software is put to use quickly, thus allowing the institute to get the expected results faster.
- ☐ All the users of the system are properly trained in all the aspects of the system.
- ☐ There is a smooth transition from the old way of working to the new IT enabled working, and the users start using the system independently

Following tasks are involved in the implementation:

- Collection of master data: This involves making decision about various categories of the course, subject etc., and collecting other master information which would be used during the one time master entry that takes place immediately after installation.
- Responsibility matrix: This will define the access to be given to each person in the organization as per his hierarchy in the organization.
- Initial master data entry: This will be carried out by respective users under the guidance of implementation team.
- Data Migration: Some master data from older systems can be transferred to the new system provided it is consistent.
- Initial Transaction Entry: Once the masters are set up and the system is ready to use, student transactions will be started preferably from First semester / year of the courses and a new academic instance on the system with the help from implementation team. Hands on training will be carried out during this exercise.

3.2. BPA/GAP Analysis

Upon getting your order, this is the first step carried out by us.

- ☐ Our team consisting of senior analysts will study and understand various functions of your Institute, documents and reports.
- ☐ Software prototype for the relevant modules will be shown to the users.
- ☐ The (standard formats) reports / forms provided by the system will be matched against the user reports / forms. The standard formats will be shown to the user and his approval for using that format is obtained.
- ☐ Wherever users are keen on using their custom formats instead of standard system formats, the document / report will be added to customization requirements.

- ☐ Changes or additional requirements, which are not being met by the present software, will be handled by a separate customization project.

3.3. Installation

- ☐ The Institute will give an installation clearance after ensuring that the computers are ready in all respects for installation of the software.
- ☐ Upon receiving such clearance, installation team would install the application software on each of the machine designated by the client. The team will not install any system software, antivirus, MS Office or any other software that is not supplied by CNV.
- ☐ After completion of installation, the installation team will demonstrate that the software is being executed by clicking on the icon on the desktop, and an installation signoff will be obtained from the customer.

3.4. Training

- ☐ The training team can provide multiple training sessions at multiple locations.
- ☐ The Institute should organize computers and audiovisual equipment sufficient to train the number of users attending the training. The training dates would be mutually decided and conveyed to trainees and trainers.
- ☐ Upon receiving such communication, trainers would conduct the programs as per the schedule. During this program, the trainees would only be trained on Campus application software and not on Windows, MS Office or any other software.
- ☐ After completion of each training capsule, training sign off would be obtained.

3.5. Implementation

Implementation consultants would conduct a handholding session for each module and for each form, during which sample entries are made and its effect on the overall working are shown.

Implementation will involve consultancy at three levels. Principal consultants will provide business-modeling inputs while the senior consultants will handle the project planning and control. Implementation executives will be responsible for tasks related to installation, training and master data preparation. The estimates of services required and implementation charges will be applicable as per the rates mentioned in the commercial proposal.

3.6. Data Entry

Data entry operators would enter the manual data into the system, or would correct and modify the data received through the data migration activities.

3.7. Data Migration

Consultants for data migration would help the client define the migration strategy and would also write the required routines to transfer the data.

3.8. Customization

Any new software development, additional modules, modification of source code or database structure will be outside the scope of the project and can be carried out by CNV at an extra cost.

4. Infrastructure

We Host our Application on world Class data centers, which are centrally managed for a consistent environment across all our markets. Built to the highest global standards such as TIA 942 Standard at Tier III to deliver a secure, reliable, and resilient infrastructure.

For On Premises Installations, Application will be hosted on Hardware provided by Client.

5. Service definition and escalation

In order to provide the timely service to customer, service provider expect to attend the service calls as per definition mentioned below:
