About the Expert Talk

Interview skills and group discussion (GD) have a crucial role to play in getting a job in today's competitive world. Expert talks can provide essential insights into the crucial tactics for mastering these skills. One such expert talk was conducted by School of forensic science, on “Effective tactics for interview skills and Group Discussion”, by Senior trainer, soft skill expert MR. BISHNU PRASANNA PAL.

Mr. Bishnu Prasanna Pal began the talk with the importance of preparation. He laid emphasis on researching the company and knowing the job profile in detail. He advised the candidates to explore the company's website, know its history, and understand its mission and vision. This preparation helps the candidate to answer any related questions with ease and confidence during the interview.

Mr. Pal also underlined the significance of non-verbal communication skills while appearing for interviews. The importance of maintaining body language and appropriate dressing was highlighted. According to him, non-verbal communication contributes significantly to the overall impression created by the candidate. He also advised participants to practice active listening techniques, emphasising the importance of understanding the speaker's perspective and responding appropriately.

Another significant aspect highlighted was the importance of the use of appropriate language in expressing thoughts and ideas.

Question and Answer session was held followed by the guest lecture where he cleared doubts of participants.

Attending Mr. Pal's talk on Effective tactics for interview skills and group discussion, was an enriching experience. It helped students to understand the importance of preparation, non-verbal communication, active listening and appropriate language usage while attending an interview or participating in Group discussion.
