BRIEF REPORT:

As a part of school of nursing we organized a programme to learn the importance of environment. This event was conducted by students of school of nursing, centurion university of technology and management, BBSR campus.

The session begins with poster making competition. The poster was made by students on the basis of theme of world environment Day 2025. “Beat Plastic Pollution”. Ten students have participated in the competition out of which the best and the poster which fit the theme were selected and declared as winners. These winners were given position respectively.

Our respective faculties shared an informative thought on world environment day. They enlighten us with the importance of healthy and clean environment.

As the event was held online all the students were at their hometown, together we all planted trees. planting trees is a vital action for protecting and improving environment .

Plant a TREE, SAVE the planet.
