REPORT ON SKIN HEALTH CAMP

OF

WORLD SKIN HEALTH DAY

We are happy to inform you all that, on the occasion of World Skin Health Day, a Skin Health Camp was successfully conducted in collaboration with the School of Nursing at the Community Diagnostic Center (CDC), Centurion University, Bhubaneswar Campus, on 13th July 2025 (Sunday) from 10:00 AM to 01:00 PM.

The camp was coordinated by Mr. Aakash Deep Sahoo, Assistant Professor, with facilitation support from Ms. Rasmita Priyadarsani Samal, Assistant Professor, and active participation by B.Sc. Nursing students.

Renowned doctors from the Department of Dermatology and Venereology, IADV (Indian Association of Dermatologists, Venereologists and Leprologists), provided expert consultation, treatment, and distributed physician samples to patients.

Participating Doctors:

1. Dr. Siddharth Rout (MBBS, MD – Skin & VD)
2. Dr. Prajnajit (MBBS, MD – Skin & VD)
3. Dr. Ayesha Sitam (MBBS, MD – Skin & VD)

The event witnessed enthusiastic community participation and contributed significantly to promoting skin health awareness.

We extend our heartfelt appreciation to all the doctors, faculty coordinators, nursing students, and attendees for their efforts and support in making this camp a success.

Conclusion:

The Skin Health Camp was a valuable initiative aimed at promoting awareness, early detection, and prevention of common dermatological conditions. The camp successfully provided free consultations, skin check-ups, and health education to the community, especially to individuals who lack access to specialized dermatological care. Through interactive sessions, distribution of informational leaflets, and one-on-one counseling, participants gained practical knowledge about skin hygiene, sun protection, acne care, fungal infections, and the importance of early diagnosis of skin disorders. The active participation of dermatologists, nursing staff, and volunteers ensured the smooth execution of the camp and contributed to its overall success.

In conclusion, the Skin Health Camp was a meaningful step toward community health promotion and disease prevention. It reinforced the importance of regular skin care and empowered individuals to take proactive steps in maintaining their skin health.
