FARM-FRESH FEASTS: PLATEFULS FROM THE LOCAL BOUNTY

Farm-Fresh Feasts

Within Centurion University of Technology and Management`s expansive campus, one can find a harmonious blend of on-campus hostels and staff quarters, which collectively enrich the vibrant campus community. These residential facilities not only offer cozy and convenient accommodations but also extend their services to include dining facilities, thus catering to the diverse culinary needs and preferences of the residents.

Each day unfolds with remarkable activity within the University's dining facilities, where a dedicated culinary team tirelessly prepares and serves an impressive tally of over 10,000 meals. Spread across various campuses, these dining halls become hubs of gastronomic delight, welcoming students, faculty, and staff alike to savor the diverse and delectable offerings.

It is crucial to emphasize that these campuses are strategically nestled in rural areas, acknowledging the University's pivotal role in these local communities. Here, the University assumes the mantle of responsibility with a clear vision - to contribute to the local economy and support the livelihoods of the residents in these regions.

In alignment with its unwavering commitment to sustainability and the welfare of the local community, the University takes great pride in practicing ethical sourcing methods. This manifests in the deliberate choice to procure produce and goods exclusively from local farmers and trusted vendors. By adhering to this conscientious approach, the University actively participates in the economic development of the areas it serves, fostering prosperity that extends well beyond the boundaries of the campus itself. In essence, the University's impact radiates far and wide, positively influencing not just the lives of its academic community but also those of the local residents and farmers who form an integral part of its ecosystem.

(A) Buying Vegetables from Local Market

(B) Preparation of Food in Mess